SUMMATIVE EVALUATION OF THE 8-4-4 SYSTEM OF EDUCATION, 2009

- Academic and examination oriented. Very little use of formative assessment (assessment for learning). Assessment was limited to summative assessment (assessment of learning).
- Did not provide flexible education pathways for identifying and nurturing aptitudes, talents and interests of learners early enough in order to prepare them for the world of work, career progression and sustainable development.
- Skills gaps identified - agricultural, entrepreneurial, vocational and technical skills, innovation and creativity and ICT .

Re-alignment To EAC Curriculum Harmonization Framework

- The Eastern African states drew up, 'A Framework on Harmonization of Curricula, Structure and Examinations in the EAC' (EAC,2012).
- As a member of the East African Community (EAC), Kenya had an obligation to reform the basic Education curricula, structure and examination system to align to the EAC framework.
- To ease mutual recognition of certificates across the region.
