Read the passage below then answer the questions that follow.

“You two seem to need my services. Where do you want to go?” asked the fisherman. “We come from very far,” said Mary’s father. “My daughter got lost and I came to look for her. We have never been to this Island before.” Then he told the fisherman what had happened to him and Mary. Finally, he added, “Please help us go back home.”

“I am very sorry for both of you,” said the fisherman. “I will help you. From what you’ve told me, I know your village. I was there two weeks ago.”

Mary’s father thanked the fisherman very much. It took two days to reach the village. Mary and her father were welcomed by the waiting crowd. Some of them rushed and called other villagers. The villagers sang and danced for long hours. They were still by the lakeside. Later they led Mary and her father home. Mary’s brother was among them.
