Certainly, national examinations are the most objective instrument for evaluating the quality of instructions learners get in a school over a given period of time. They help to determine, in the short term, how well schools have exposed learners to the prescribed curriculum.

An exam is a monitoring and evaluation tool of some sort; it helps the policy makers to determine how schools are implementing the curriculum.

There is, however, a big danger here. Over time, the public come to view examinations, tests, as indicators of how well schools are teaching. The better the results, the more the public believe that there is quality education a school is giving to its learners.

When society comes to idolize examinations and all that they can do- secure qualification for admission into competitive courses in universities or training- it makes the school and the teaching fraternity to narrow their perspective to nothing but examinations.

Some schools discard the professional integrity that has long defined the teaching profession over the years. Lest we have forgotten, education is the instrument by which the knowledge, skills and habits of the society is transmitted or transferred from generation to the next through teaching and research. Included in this is the knowledge, beliefs, art, law, morals, customs and other capabilities and habits mankind has acquired as a member of the society, to paraphrase a definition of culture by English anthropologist E.B. Tylor.

Pressed to produce excellent results, schools face the temptation of developing methods that can deliver those results with or without imparting the knowledge, skills and habits.

The core curriculum has been designed in such a way that it is sequentially covered within a period of eight years for primary and four years for secondary education. Built into the scope and sequential implementation of the curriculum are leading ideas of education psychologists on the nature of knowledge, how children learn, and how best they can learn the prescribed curriculum without stress.

The series of guidelines the Ministry of Education, Science and Technology has developed pre-scribing normal teaching and learning hours are informed by knowledge of educational psychology.

They seek to ensure that schools actually implement the curriculum as designed to allow children time to rest, to do their own reading after formal teaching hours during weekdays and over the weekends. The Kenya Institute of Curriculum Development (KICD) has sequenced the curriculum in such a way that students painstakingly build on previous concepts and ideas to reinforce their understandings and appreciation of the things they are learning.

This is the principle that underlies the ban against holiday tuition, and teaching outside official teaching hours including Saturday and Sundays. The Government wants quality curriculum delivery and control. It is not after getting sterling grades through hook or crook.

A highly valued method of imparting prescribed knowledge, skills and habits is through the development of and promotion of the use of effective learner- centred pedagogies, curriculum models/ resources and assessment mode to enhance learning in the cognitive, affective, physical and aesthetic domains.

Question 2: The Compulsory Set Text (25 Marks)

Bembe: (Sitting up with an expression of horror on his face)

The Madingo Golf Club? No! I have always been very discreet about my private affairs! How did they get the information it is mine?

Mossi: You see, there is hardly anything on earth you can do without somebody knowing about it. You should also remember that those we regard as our friends are sometimes wolves in sheep's clothing. And they may have a lot of information about us, which could be damaging!

Bembe: This might be our worst nightmare!

Mossi: What worries me most is the recent formation of a lobby group, an amorphous virtual group, comprising mostly of lawyers, calling itself The Samaritans.

It is calling upon the people to volunteer as witnesses and help in the prosecution of those involved in corruption and abuse of office in the Municipality. They are also planning to petition the Local Government Minister, the Prime Minister, and the Chief Justice to take action. The situation is not pretty at all.

Ted: (Looking at Justice Jaden)

Can such online allegations form a strong basis for prosecution and conviction?

Jaden: (Adjusting his eyeglasses)

Yes, they can; provided there are valid documents supporting the allegations.

Bembe: (Throwing his hands in the air.)

I think we have no choice other than ban that thing within Maracas Municipality! The Municipal Council needs to pass a by-law to that effect urgently. I will enforce it immediately!

Jaden: (Adjusting his glasses and then his tie)

I think we need to be careful and strategic. On what basis do you ban it?

And how can you police the use of mobile phones to ensure the ban is effective?

Seymour: We can think creatively about that. For example, we can claim that municipal authorities are concerned that suspect Apps, particularly spy Apps, are finding their way into our Municipality. This may lead to the theft of confidential information such as bank account details. We can also cite issues of cyberbullying and the sharing of pornographic materials in schools.

Poem for my sister (Liz Lochhead)

My little sister likes to try on my shoes,
to strut in them,
admire her spindle-thin twelve-year-old legs
In this season's styles.
She says they fit perfectly,
but wobbles
on their high heels, they're hard to balance.

I like to watch my little sister playing hopscotch, admire the neat hops-and skips
of her, their quick peck.
Never miss their

mark, not overstepping the line.

She is competent at peever.
I try to warn my little sister
about unsuitable shoes point out my own distorted feet, the callouses, odd patches of hard skin.
I should not like to see her
in my shoes.
I wish she would stay
sure footed,
sensibly shod.
