1) Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow.

In case you've ever wondered how much time your daughter spends taking selfies, a poll in 2015 found that the average woman between 16 and 25 years old spends over five hours a week. It sounds like a lot unless you've tried to take selfies yourself and know what an elaborate process it can be. Women take an average of seven shots to get one image, according to the poll; Kim Kardashian said it takes about 15 to 20. Then there are the filters, not to mention real-life alterations like changing lighting or touching up makeup. There are also apps you can use for more drastic procedures like changing your bone structure, slimming your waistline, erasing pimples, and more.

Selfies can be silly and lighthearted, of course, notes Alexandra Hamlet, PsyD, a psychologist at the Child Mind Institute. But she also recognizes the darker side, when photos become a measure of self-worth. "With makeup, with retouch, with filters, with multiple, multiple attempts, it's almost like you're never going to stack up," says Dr. Hamlet, "And that is where I think it gets dangerous."

We're used to worrying about how girls will be affected by seeing too many air-brushed images of models in magazines or movies. But now young people themselves are the models and they're wielding their own image-editing software. This leads to a lot of self-scrutiny as they try to perfect their own images, and comparisons to the pictures their peers are posting. Experts are understandably worried about what this means for kids' self-esteem

If you've been telling your daughter that she's beautiful just the way she is, she's getting a different message when she opens up Snapchat and sees filters and lenses that alter appearances. Pictures used to be final; now we have post-production.

Dr. Hamlet acknowledges that some of the filters are fun and distort in amusing ways, but also points out there's a so-called "pretty filter" on Instagram and Snapchat. Beautifying filters are used almost reflexively by many, which means that girls are getting used to seeing their peers effectively airbrushed every single day online. There are also image altering apps that teens can download for more substantial changes. Facetune is one popular one, but there are many, and they can be used to do everything from erase pimples to change the structure of your face or make you look taller. One app called RetouchMe gives your photo a "professional retouch" using a photo editing team for under a dollar. The possibilities can be overwhelming, particularly since girls know they are scrutinized on their appearance — as, of course, they are scrutinizing their peers.

Self-esteem often takes a hit when you start comparing yourself too much to other people, which is something social media seems to be made for. One study found that frequently viewing selfies led to decreased self-esteem and decreased life satisfaction. Another study found that girls who spend more time looking at pictures on Facebook reported higher weight dissatisfaction and self-objectification.

Parents who want to provide a healthy counterbalance to the pressures of social media can start by evaluating how they use social media themselves. Make sure you aren't talking too much about the pictures you post or see, or ask your children to take too many pictures. The occasional photo is fine, of course, but make a point of prioritizing being in the moment, too. "If you're taking your kid to a concert, don't allow them to film the whole thing and see it only through the eyes of the camera," says Dr. Hamlet. "That's reinforcing this concept that just being here is not good enough."

2) EXCERPT:THE SAMARITAN – 25 MARKS

Nicole: I have been reading the post on The Samaritan and they are all about leaders, public officials, and even private individuals. You have not been singled out in any way.

Mossi: Far from the truth! Take the issue of development for example. Everywhere in The Samaritan, I am being accused of inflating the cost of projects and presiding over shoddy Municipal works. Am I indeed responsible for that?

Nicole: Maybe because you are the overall leader. The buck stops with you, as they say.

Mossi: Oh, yes, it's easy to think so because I am the overall custodian of the public good in our Municipality. But take any project, such as the construction and maintenance of secondary roads in our town. Are any roads ever constructed? I will tell you what happens. Only a few kilometres of road are usually dug up and then leveled. Then the contractor pours old black oil and claims the road is tarmacked. Today our secondary roads look like part of abandoned battlefield where bombs were detonated. Even tractors can get stuck in those roads! Yet, the council pays top dollars for these roads each year! Am I responsible?

Nicole: Tell me, Your Worship.

Mossi: (Standing up and pacing about the boardroom) It is my Deputy! That irredeemable gossip and broker! As you know, he doubles up as our Municipal Secretary for the Department of Physical Infrastructure. He uses this position to ensure only his companies or those of his relatives win tenders for road construction in our Municipality. The same happen with regard to tenders for the construction of bridges, pavements, drains and watercourses. Sadly, they don't do any meaningful work! They simply misappropriate the funds!

Nicole: So, what does that have to do with the people?

Mossi: Doesn't bother you that the people overwhelmingly voted for this kind of a person knowing very well he has never accomplished anything in his life other than swindle the people?

Nicole: Oh, did they know?

Mossi: Of course, they did! There's hardly any person he has not conned in this town! You always find him leaning on the street poles in our town's backstreets, gazing vacantly into empty spaces like an evil spirit- waiting for fake title deeds to be printed. He prints ten title deeds for the same plot to ten different people. Yet the people went ahead and voted for him! Why do people glorify evil and mediocrity, and then turn and whine when it hurts them? And you know what?

Nicole: Tell me Your Worship.

Mossi: if you look at him closely, you will find that he resembles the sloth. Have you seen a sloth? That godforsaken creature that gives you nausea the moment you see it! That's exactly him! Slow, ugly, dim-witted, and outright useless!

3) LITERARY APPRECIATION

Read the following poem and answer the questions that follow:

MUNICIPAL DUTY

She stood by the wares
Her child tied to the back
Nibbling a dry slice
While she haggled with customers,
As people milled by
To this and from that care,
With scary eyes.

With no warning
She had gathered
The sack across the chest
Darted off
Like an antelope who has seen a lion.

He raced after her
Wielding the municipal club
Knocking off pedestrians
In the municipal rush.

The child shrieked like a police siren
But he wasn't deterred
She looked behind
Gasping for scarce air
He only a step away.

Not caring for the lights she dashed into the street.
As he raised the rungu
The driver stepped on the brakes
The car skidded with momentum
Her mouth opened, dazed
But no sound came
Except the agonized crash
Of steel, flesh and macadam
Mashed
Leaving the uniformed phantom
Transfixed
