When in early 1970s ultrasound confronted me with the sight of the embryo in a womb, I simply lost my faith in abortion on demand. I did not hold onto my old convictions. The change was in its way a clean and surgical conversion. I am by nature one that works out the conflicting data, weighs the opposing argument with great care, makes a decision and then acts upon it with no lingering backward glances.

By 1984 however, I had begun to ask myself more questions about abortion: What actually goes on in an abortion? I had done many but abortion is a blind procedure. The doctor does not see what he is doing. He puts an instrument into a uterus and he turns on a mortar and a suction machine goes on and something is vacuumed out; it ends up as little pile of meat in a gauze bag. I wanted to know what happened, so in 1984 I said to a friend of mine who was doing fifteen or maybe twenty abortions a day: ‘Look, do me a favour, Jay. Next Saturday when you are doing all these abortions put an ultrasound on the mother and tape it on me.’

He did, and when he looked at the tapes with me in the editing studio, he was so affected that he never did another abortion. Although I had not performed an abortion in five years, I was shaken to the very roots of my soul by what I saw. The tapes were shockingly amazing. Some of the tapes weren’t of very good quality but I selected one that was of better quality than the others and began to show it at pro-life gatherings around the country. (I had my first contact with pro-life movement in 1981 when the then president of the National Right to Life Committee, Carolyn Gerster, had gotten in touch with me).

At the time, I was speaking at a pro-life meetings around the country in weekends, and the response to the tape was so intense and dramatic that finally I was approached by a man named Don Smith, who wanted to make my tape into a film. I agreed that it would be a good idea. That is how The Silent Scream, which was to generate so much furore, came to be made. We showed it for the first time in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, on January 3, 1985. The reaction was instantaneous. Everybody was up in arms because The Silent Scream represented an enormous threat to the abortion forces, and because it escalated the war (it is not really a debate- we don’t debate with each, we scream at one another). For the first time, we had the technology, and they had nothing.

The Silent Scream depicted a twelve-week foetus being torn to pieces in the uterus by the combination of suction and crushing instrumentation by the abortionist. It was so powerful that pro-choicers trotted out their heaviest hitters to denounce the tape. They very cleverly deflected the impact of the film into an academic cul-de-sac: a dispute regarding whether the foetus feels pain during an abortion. The impetus for the debate came from an on-the-record musing by the then President, Ronald Reagan, as to how much pain the foetus feels during an abortion.

Bembe: (Interrupting Nicole) The matter of The Samaritan is weighty. It can destroy lives. It is threatening the lives of many powerful people. They are fighting back and they will destroy your life. I am giving you a chance to secure your life. I am an officer whose duty is to protect lives. Just do what the Mayor told you. You should never fight a losing battle.

Nicole: (Firmly) I have made a choice to do what is right. That is not negotiable. And besides, I have no control over the App. The National Information and Communications Technology Corporation is now in charge of that App.

Bembe: (Interrupting Nicole) I understand that to mean you are ready for a fight. And to get us started, are you aware that the signal of your phone was at one time located at the scene of murder?

Nicole: (In horror and rising to her feet) That's preposterous! (Moves towards the door) I need to see the Principal now!

Bembe: (Blocking the way) And what about last night?

Nicole: What?

Bembe: The school generator.

Nicole: School generator? What about it?

Bembe: Who sold it?

Nicole: That is ridiculous!

Bembe: I thought so, too.

Nicole: (Trying to find a way past Inspector Bembe) I have nothing to do with the school generator!

Bembe: (Blocking her every move) The generator has been stolen, and you and I know who stole it!

Nicole: Listen, Mr. Officer, do not try to fabricate anything against me. It will get you nowhere. And if you insist, this will become the darkest day in your career!

Bembe: What? Are you threatening a police officer?

Nicole: (With a sharp and firm voice) You must not break the law by accusing me of crimes I have not committed!

Bembe: You're just confirming some of the other accusations that have been made against you.

Nicole: Which allegations?

Bembe: You have a reputation for being too strong-willed to be suitable for a school teacher. You're as stubborn as a mule.

Nicole: What crime is that?

Bembe: Well, it is not a crime as such; but don't you think it is a bad influence to the students?

(Bangs the table violently and shouts an order. Two police officers enter.) Handcuff her! (There is a commotion as the officers reach out to Nicole. She resists but is overpowered. There is an interval of silence as Bembe begins to rummage through papers on Nicole's table. Nicole refuses to move and sits down on the floor. The officers drag her on the floor) Stop. (The officers stop. There is silence. Then Bembe moves behind Nicole's table and starts pulling the drawers open, one after the other, removing and throwing papers all over the floor.) Where have you hidden it?

Nicole: Hidden What?

Bembe: The Samaritan! (Nicole is visibly surprised at the answer but remains silent.) I will tell you this, whenever you see me personally involved in an arrest, you must know it's a serious matter, as serious as death. And you should be afraid. Very afraid!

Nicole: I am not guilty of anything, and I refuse to be intimidated!

Bembe: (Inspector Bembe bangs the table violently with his gun. Nicole recoils with a start.)
Woman! Show some seriousness! This is no laughing matter. Are you willing to talk?

Nicole: About what? (There is silence as Inspector Bembe wears his beret and places his scepter under his armpit.)

3. Read the poem given below and answer the questions that follow.

AFTER THE WAR

The outcome? Conflicting rumours
As to what faction murdered
The one man who, had he survived
Might have ruled us without corruption.
Not that it matters now:
We're busy collecting the dead.
Counting them, hard though it is
To be sure what side they were on
What's left of their bodies and faces
Tells of no need but for burial
And mutilation was practiced
By right, left and centre alike.
As for the children and women
Who knows what they wanted
Apart from the usual things?

Food is scarce now, and men are scarce
Whole villages burnt to the ground
New cities in disrepair.
Their war is over. Somebody must have won.
Somebody will have won. When peace is declared.
