1. Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow.

(20 marks)

The core element of Artificial Intelligence (AI) and a functioning production IT system is an interactive, lifelong process of learning from the human partner and responding to human needs. For example, the AI system must be able to draw up highly complex plans as needed by the customer and to produce them autonomously. A production robot, in particular, is supposed to be designed in such a way that it has nearly human capabilities such as fine motor skills, perception, adaptability and cognition. In order to achieve its full functionality, however, it must be programmed dynamically and rigidly.

Modern information technologies and the advent of machines powered by artificial intelligence have already strongly influenced the world of work in the 21st century. Computers, algorithms and software simplify everyday tasks.

When we transfer the experience of the past to the future, disturbing questions arise: what will the future world of work look like and how long will it take to get there? Will the future world of work be a world where humans spend less time earning their livelihood? Alternatively, are mass unemployment, mass poverty and social distortions also a possible scenario for the new world, a world where robots, intelligent systems and algorithms play an increasingly central role? What is already clear and certain is that new technical developments will have a fundamental impact on the global labour market within the next few years, not just on industrial jobs but on the core of human tasks in the service sector that are considered untouchable.

In addition to companies, employees and societies, education systems and legislators are also facing the task of meeting the new challenges resulting from constantly advancing technology. Legislators are already lagging behind and the gap between reality and laws relating to AI is growing.

Both blue-collar and white-collar sectors will be affected. The faster the process of the division of labour and the more process steps can be described in detail, the sooner employees can be replaced by intelligent algorithms. One third of current jobs requiring a bachelor's degree can be performed by machines or intelligent software in the future. Individual jobs will disappear completely, and new types of jobs will come into being.

Robots and intelligent machines can have not only supporting, but even lifesaving functions. Examples are robots used in medical diagnostics, which have high accuracy, or for the assessment of dangerous objects using remote control and integrated camera systems. These make it possible, for example, to defuse a bomb without a human having to come close to it. The 'Robo Gas Inspector', an inspection robot equipped with remote gas sensing technology, can inspect technical facilities even in hard-to-reach areas without putting humans at risk, for example, to detect leaks in above-ground and underground gas pipelines.

Owing to the great number of emerging multidisciplinary support alternatives due to AI and machines, the requirements for future employees will change. There will be hardly any need for employees who do simple and/or repetitive work. Already today, the number of factory workers is constantly decreasing, and humans are ever more becoming the control mechanism of the machine. The automotive industry, where many production steps are already fully automated, is the pioneer in this respect.

The lower the demand for workers, the higher will be the companies’ demand for highly qualified employees. According to common belief, better education helps. Better education helps, however, only in certain circumstances. The additional qualification of an individual employee must be connected to the work in question. Additional qualifications as an accountant will be of little benefit for the individual employee, because – over time – there is a 98 per cent probability that the work of an accountant can be done by intelligent software. Creative people who are talented in mathematics and sciences are best qualified for the new labour market.

Although not every future employee will be required to be an IT programmer, they should have a fundamental grasp of analytical and technical matters. Employees should be able to form a unit with supporting machines and algorithms and to navigate the internet comfortably and move safely in social networks. To do this, it is necessary to know how the basic structure works. The employee should also be able to examine machines and artificial intelligence software critically. It is not necessary only to oversee machines, but also to coordinate them. The interfaces between humans and machines and the overlaps in the area of responsibility among the more flexible humans must also be coordinated.

2. Read the following excerpt and answer the questions that follow.

Bembe: You have a reputation for being too strong-willed to be suitable for a school teacher. You're as stubborn as a mule.

Nicole: What crime is that?

Bembe: Well, it is not a crime as such; but don't you think it is a bad influence to the students?

(Bangs the table violently and shouts an order. Two police officers enter.) Handcuff her! (There is a commotion as the officers reach out to Nicole. She resists but is overpowered. There is an interval of silence as Bembe begins to rummage through papers on Nicole's table. Nicole refuses to move and sits down on the floor. The officers drug her on the floor.) Stop. (The officers stop. There is silence. Then Bembe moves behind Nicole's table and starts pulling the drawers open, one after the other, removing and throwing papers all over the floor.) Where have you hidden it?

Nicole: Hidden what?

Bembe: The Samaritan! (Nicole is visibly surprised at the answer but remains silent) I will tell you this, whenever you see me personally involved in an arrest, you must know it's a serious matter, as serious as death. And you should be afraid. Very afraid!

Nicole: I am not guilty of anything, and I refuse to be intimidated!

Bembe: (Inspector Bembe bangs the table violently with his gun. Nicole recoils with a start.) Woman! Show some seriousness! This is no laughing matter. Are you willing to talk?

Nicole: About what? (There is silence as Inspector Bembe wears his beret and places his sceptre under his armpit)

Bembe: About The Samaritan.

Nicole: What about The Samaritan?

Bembe: Where is it?

Nicole: I don't understand you?

Bembe: Where is it? (He repeats angrily)

Nicole: (Swinging her head in disbelief) I have no such thing in my possession, but you can download it from the internet.

Bembe: (Hitting Nicole on the face with a bunch of papers) Now you have to tell those two students to shut that thing off. Alright?

Nicole: Why should I?

Bembe: Because it is the right thing to do!

Nicole: I have no right to dictate what they do with their App.

Bembe: Then you have to shut it down yourself! We believe The Samaritan is your brainchild!

The two students are just a cover-up! And the App is a grave danger to society!

Nicole: Mr. Inspector, when The Samaritan helps us fight environmental degradation by exposing the culprits, is that dangerous?

Bembe: Fighting environmental degradation is none of the school's business! We have competent agencies employed to do that! Teach the authorized curriculum.

Nicole: When it helps us to know who supplies air to the Municipal Council instead of goods and services, is that dangerous?

3. Read the following oral song and answer the questions that follow.

Listen

My husband

In the wisdom of Lang'o

Time is not stupidity split up

Into seconds and minutes

It does not flow

Like beer in a pot

That is sucked

Until it is finished

It does not resemble

A loaf of millet bread

Surrounded by hungry youths

From a hunt

It does not get finished

Like vegetable in the dish

A lazy youth is rebuked

A lazy girl is slapped

A lazy wife beaten

A lazy man laughed at

Not because they waste time

But because they only destroy

And do not produce

And famine invades
Women take their baskets
To go and beg, food,
Strangers will sleep with them
They will have your wives
And what can you say?
